Members in the IIADT program may not activate until they have completed their PMOS school. At this time, all IIADT members (that are still in the Reserve unit and not currently at school) should have a Strength Category Code of "H" resident in MCTFS. This will preclude their activation. They will go to school as planned. They will finish their school or basic training, etc. and report to the RTC. The PWST and Site Support will join them to the RESERVE UNIT, and they will drill monthly as they should. Once they complete their PMOS School and are considered deployable, the RTC will send a msg to MFR requesting disposition on them. If their Parent (deployed) unit and the GFC want/need him, then at that time, MFR will direct the activation of the member and he will be sent on his way to marry up with his unit. If there is no need for the Marine, he will continue to drill with the unit.

I hope this answers your question.

CWO,

I have a question on Split Increment Initial Active Duty Treaining; what will happen to those Marines who complete Recruit Training, and would normally go to their reserve unit in a drilling status if their reserve unit is mobilized? Do they go to college, or active duty?

This is important to us, as we are selling/shipping QSNs for 2/25, and we have to be able to tell them what's going to happen to them.

Please let me know.

Gy Diaz has explained the process EXACTLY the way it is to go. I thought that we addressed this in the MFR Perstat Reporting message. I will check, if not, I'll make sure it's in the Admin Msg that is (supposed) to be released on Monday.

Capt Knox,

RAP does not have a draft MARADMIN on the table regarding administrative mobilization procedures for those NPS Marines completing IADT. CWO2 Porche is POC at G-1 MarForRes might have something planned from COMMARFORRES. As understood the procedures as follows:

1. Reservists will still be released from active duty by the schoolhouse and directed to report to the reserve center.

2. For those activated units, the PWST staff will join the Marine to the reserve RUC.
3. Then PWST will send a message to MarForRes notifying them that the Marine has completed all entry level training and is waiting for disposition instructions.
4. MarForRes will direct/authorize (based on T/O requirements) when the Marine is to be activated and join the unit.
5. When directed, the Reservist will be transferred TAD EXCESS to the activated unit.

Sir,

I had heard that RA was going to publish a MARADMIN giving guidance on how/if SMCR Marines in both IIADT, and returning from MOS training status would be mobilized. Have you heard anything on when that might come out? If so, please let me know, as we are all curious down here.
